Over the past few weeks and in the coming days we will be doing some revision exercises. Please use these exercises as a guide for question format and structure.

During Exams Activity Books may be brought to school along with the subject books for that day and the following day. These will be done in the periods between exams.

Please practise using Spelling words in sentences as well as drawing, colouring and labelling pictures to illustrate the words and sentences.

Homework is given to reinforce what is taught during the day. Please ensure that it is done so that revision will not seem too overwhelming when the time comes.

Remember there is NO TALKING during exams. There are serious consequences for talking.

You are not allowed to look into anyone else’s papers or ask them for help. Your parents will be called in immediately if this happens. This is called CHEATING.

Remember to read ALL instructions carefully and read over what you write!!!

Some children who participate in the Reading/Writing programme at school will be taken out of the classroom to complete their examinations. These children are chosen by Mrs. Allum according to their specific needs.

Parents, please remember that the questions will cater to all of the different levels of thinking as identified by Benjamin Bloom in his taxonomy.

Exam papers are NOT allowed to leave the school premises for any reason. If an exam paper accidentally comes home, please send it back to us in a sealed envelope.

Study. Pray. Succeed

Stay Blessed,

Your Teachers
